Schools Found 'Insurmountably Inadequate'

Wealthy Westfall District To Face Loss of Charters

Westfall Local School District, with a property valuation in excess of $23,000,000, is on the verge of losing the charters for its four high schools because of "many and insurmountable inadequacies" in the eyes of the State Department of Education.

State School Superintendent E. E. Holt is scheduled to recommend revoking the charters of Monroe, Darby, Jackson and Williamsport - Atlanta High Schools to the state board of education Monday. Loss of the charters would result in closing the institutions eventually.

Holt based his recommendation on reports from Gerald R. Norman, state school supervisor who inspected Pickaway County's school system in November. Norman found all four schools sub-standard in at least 19 educational areas.

The Westfall district was created almost four years ago from several smaller local units. At that time it was considered consolidation into a single administrative unit had gained a temporary charter removal reprieve within which a bond issue for a single Westfall High School could be approved.

VOTERS in the district have repeatedly turned down the measure, however. Norman found the result to be inadequate physical facilities, underpaid and unprepared instructors and generally inefficient operation.

The six-township district functions as one of the few remaining in progressive counties to retain a township high school system. Most similar districts have reorganized their programs into consolidated plants, such as Logan Elm and the new Teays Valley high schools.

In directing his evaluations to Raymond Rietterman, president of the Westfall board of education, Norman said of all the high schools: "The inadequacies of the present situation are many and insurmountable in terms of the Minimum Standards for Ohio High Schools.

"Among some of the deficiencies, we point out the limited number of units (subjects) scheduled, the limited staff, an inadequate library, insufficient instructional materials, inadequate or inappropriate physical facilities and the small enrollment."

"Because of the inadequacies, it is difficult for the Principal to properly organize the school program and schedule classes."

In view of the many inadequacies of the high schools, a real concern for the future welfare of the pupils would indicate that the schools should be discontinued and a plan to provide an opportunity for a comprehensive secondary educational program be developed.

"BECAUSE of the deficiencies listed . . . I cannot recommend the continuation of the high schools."

Norman's reports were forwarded to Holt, who in turn reportedly will recommend charter revocation to the state board Monday.

By high schools, Norman's evaluations of the Westfall situation were:

Jackson Twp. — James Brown, principal, does not hold a required High School Principal's certificate from state authorities. Only 22 1/2 academic units available: Sociology, chemistry, English 12, health, algebra I and II, general mathematics, biology, general science, girl's physical education being taught by personnel not properly certificated;

One teacher required to instruct seven academic areas; decidedly inadequate vo-ag and shop facilities; co-scheduling of two classes for one teacher; laboratory inadequate; library improperly staffed and books out-of-date, with new encyclopedia 14 years old; business, physical education and home economics courses inadequate; some building improvements made.

Monroe Twp. — Some new courses in social studies and Latin available; limited physical improvements made; teaching loads too heavy; teachers assigned outside field of certification in violation of (Continued on Page 2)

Even Adults Perching on Santa's Knee

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Christmas Santas see some adults in their laps these days asking for Christmas treasures.

"How about a mink or a Cadillac, Santa?" said one woman Thursday as she perched on his knee, her cheek against his.

Santa, whose real name is George Ader, gave the woman an extra-heavy "ho-ho," and a few extra hugs, and after she left, said:

"Let's face it, I don't mind the girls. But those men. Some of them weigh a ton."

The change in the ages of Santa's visitors came because some of the downtown department stores rigged up cameras to take souvenir pictures of youngsters talking with Santa.

Now adults want pictures. Despite the adults' hounding in Cincinnati's Santas concentrate on the youngsters.

Wilbur Timme, an alternate Santa, said: "I wish parents wouldn't scare children by using Santa as a threat. They tell them Santa won't like them if they do this or that."

"Then they wonder why a youngster screams with fright when he or she is brought before me."

Ader said one little girl gave him a chuckle. She said her mother had asked her to relay an urgent request to Santa.

"What does Mommy want?" asked Santa.

"Peace and quiet," said the girl.

At a meeting in the Farmers Bank, approval of the merger was expressed by an overwhelming and almost unanimous move by stockholders present and by proxies. The vote was 732 for and 18 against.

The negative count represented the voting power of three stockholders. There were 750 shares in all to be voted.

'Plowshare' Nuclear Test Due Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials are taking no chances on Sunday's Project Plowshare underground nuclear explosion, although they don't think anything can go wrong.

The Federal Aviation Agency said Thursday that all low-altitude plane travel will be banned for eight hours over the New Mexico desert test site.

It also advised all planes within 230 miles of the test site, near Carlsbad, N.M., to keep their radios on "for information on possible additional areas of potential hazard which might be created by some totally unexpected phenomenon or operational requirement."

The FAA said it does not expect the blast to break the surface, but just in case it banned all flights up to 12,000 feet after 8 a. m. (MST) Sunday in a 25-mile radius from the blast site.

Plowshare is the first known nuclear explosion devoted entirely to testing peaceful uses of the atom. The AEC dug a 1,200-foot hole straight down into salt deposits at the cost of $1 million. Branching off from this is a 1,116-foot horizontal tunnel with a chamber at the end.

Snow Blankets Northeast Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP) — The first snowstorm of the season in Northeast Ohio left the ground covered two to four inches deep and highways treacherous in much of the area this morning.

From eastern Cuyahoga County through Lake, Geauga and Ashtabula counties, the heaviest snowfall was reported.

The state highway patrol said three to four inches was reported in Lake and Geauga counties and there were some reports of as much as six inches in Ashtabula County near the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line.

Highways through much of the area were snow-covered and slippery. Crews worked through the night spreading salt and cinders.

Yule Trees Plentiful

CHICAGO (AP) — A forestry industry source predicts Americans will buy about 45 million Christmas trees this year, about 3 million more than last year.

Conservatives Rip Colleges of U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Three young conservatives today variously described the American college as a collection of "hot-house liberals," a "left-wing brain laundry" and lacking in patriotism.

The comments came from Scott Stanley, a student at the University of Kansas; Roger Claus, a 1961 graduate of the University of Wisconsin; and William S. P. Cotter, national organization director of Young Americans for Freedom.

They were made in remarks prepared for the National Association of Manufacturers 66th annual congress of American industry.

Stanley told the businessmen they were not active enough in fighting through the colleges to save the free enterprise system.

"The fact is, gentlemen, that you are being duped into financing your own demise. American colleges and universities are fast becoming a collection of electric hot-house liberals bent not upon education but upon indoctrination," Stanley said.

Urging industrialists to "get in the battle," Stanley continued: "What text is being used in your schools? How many of you know? How many of you care? How long since you sat down with someone of college age—or even your sons or daughters—and talked to them seriously about our system?"

"Young conservatives—through their conservative clubs—are now daring to say 'No.' You can help. Stop financing your enemies, and help us," he said.

Claus, who took part in the creation of "Insight and Outlook," a magazine of the Wisconsin Conservative Club, noted the increase of conservative college publications.

This increase, he said, "demonstrates that we are not merely reacting to our newly discovered presence in a left-wing brain

Brunette, 27, Is Assigned To Sea Duty

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A trim, businesslike brunette boards a ship today to become the first woman ever assigned to sea duty as a line officer of the U.S. Navy.

She's hazel-eyed Lt. Charlene I. Suneson, 27, who recalls that her feminine feat "all began at a cocktail party in San Diego."

Miss Suneson, a WAVE for the past seven years, guesses she'll be assigned to the transportation division aboard the USS W. A. Mann when she reports for duty. The big transport ship is set to begin an 18-month Pacific cruise.

Miss Suneson says she's more interested in military life than cocktail parties but tells her Navy career started with a social sip.

"I was talking to a captain and I mentioned I would like to go to sea. And he said he could arrange it for me," says the trim officer.

She got a fleeting taste of Navy life earlier this month on a radar picket ship tied up at Treasure Island. She emerged from the experience with confidence.

"I have met the captain of the Mann and the executive officer. I'm sure everything will work out all right," she said.

Miss Suneson, a graduate of the University of Chicago, will have some female company during the long Pacific journey. Two nurses are assigned to the transport and many of the passengers will be women dependents of servicemen.

Is the lieutenant apprehensive about giving orders to men? "Back up," she brusquely ordered a news photographer who recently got a bit too close for some leg shots.

Nuclear Course Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is developing a 12-lesson course to teach Americans how to provide emergency medical care for victims of a nuclear attack. It is expected to start in some areas early next year.

laundry but are eager to explore the richness of the conservative philosophy and, having once conquered it, pass it along to our heretofore indoctrinated fellow collegians."

Declaring that the American educational system has failed in teaching patriotism, Cotter said it produces more "extreme leftist thinkers than any other nation on earth, save Russia."

Cotter said most of the active, vocal students in America "are avowedly in defiance of precept tradition, morality and that old-fashioned outmoded concept called patriotism."

Unrest Remains In Dominica

Government Rejects Newest Peace Plan

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Expectations of political peace in the Dominican Republic suffered a jolt Thursday night as the government rejected a new opposition plan for a ruling junta to replace President Joaquin Balaguer.

Crowds hopeful of a break in the weeks-old crisis surged through downtown streets a few hours earlier as reports circulated that Balaguer had agreed to step down in favor of a provisional ruling council proposed by the National Civic Union, the leading opposition group.

But a government announcement after a 2 1/2-hour meeting attended by Balaguer and Dominican military chiefs called the opposition plan "inadmissible" and offered a new government proposal to retain Balaguer in the top government post.

Informed sources said the rejected Civic Union plan provided for Balaguer's resignation before Dec. 31 and for a provisional seven-man council to take over the government and try to install democracy in this nation ruled by the late Dictator Rafael Trujillo for 31 years.

The opposition proposal also called for constituent assembly elections Aug. 16, election of a Congress Dec. 1, 1962, and installation of a new government Jan. 26, 1963.

Informants said the opposition also demanded replacement of Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavaria, named armed forces chief by Balaguer last month after the general helped crush an attempted Trujillo coup.

Balaguer said that negotiations would continue, but Civic Union officials said they considered that the talks had been terminated.

A general strike which has shut down virtually all shops and businesses throughout the nation continued Thursday for the 10th day.

One Injured In Car Crash

An Ashville woman was taken to Lockbourne Air Force Base Hospital yesterday following a one-car accident on Hedges Road at South St., in Ashville at noon yesterday.

Mrs. Marie C. Ford was taken to the Base hospital with a possible fracture of the left leg.

The front end of the 1961 compact car was demolished when it crashed into a utility pole, deputy Dixie Watters said. Mrs. Ford failed to negotiate a turn at the intersection and lost control of her vehicle, he added.

Glenn Clay, Ashville Marshal, assisted in the investigation.

Tshombe Says Yankee Bombs Kill Children

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP) — U.S. transports resumed the airlift of men and supplies today to U.N. troops battling stubbornly resisting Katanga forces.

As the fighting went into its fourth day, Katanga President Moise Tshombe charged that "cowardly and decadent" Americans had bombed schools, a church and hospital and residential areas, killing women and children. Tshombe, back in Elisabethville to direct his forces, declared Americans "send to the Congo their dollars, their planes and their diplomats — everything except their soldiers."

No U.S. planes have been engaged in combat duties in Katanga but Tshombe previously had attributed attacks by Swedish and Indian jet fighters on Katanga airfields to American planes.

In the fighting, the Leopold Hospital for Africans was hit by 50 mortar shells during a night-long barrage, but none of the 700 patients was seriously injured.

Nurses and doctors said the shells came from a Swedish U.N. troop camp.

U.N. officials said the U.N. mortar fire was aimed at Camp Tshombe—a Katanga installation—only 800 yards from the hospital.

In London, in response to U.N. requests, the British government announced it would furnish 1,000-pound bombs for use by Indian jet fighters for defensive purposes in Katanga. The bombs may be used only against Katanga airfields, the British said.

The United States had six Globemasters and fourteen Hercules transports on hand in the Congo for the airlift that was temporarily suspended when one Globemaster was hit by ground fire as it came in for a landing at Elisabethville.

The first planes to take off from Leopoldville at dawn today, as the airlift resumed, carried 200 Irish troops. Malayan armored cars were being brought in on some of the nine flights planned for the day.

As Gen. Sean McKeown, the Irish commander of U.N. forces, flew here from Leopoldville for a firsthand survey of the situation, (Continued on Page 2)

Farmers Bank Stockholders OK First National Merger

Another step toward merger of the First National Bank of Williamsport and the First National Bank of Circleville was taken yesterday afternoon.

At a meeting in the Farmers Bank, approval of the merger was expressed by an overwhelming and almost unanimous vote by stockholders present and by proxies. The vote was 732 for and 18 against.

The negative count represented the voting power of three stockholders. There were 750 shares in all to be voted.

W. D. Heiskell, president of the Williamsport bank, presided at the meeting attended by all the directors and a number of stockholders.

PRESENT was T. D. Harmon of the First National Bank who reiterated statements made at a previous meeting. He said directors for the Williamsport bank would be chosen from the Williamsport area and that they would meet in regular session as they have in the past.

Harmon said present employees of the Williamsport firm would be retained. He also stated that more consideration would be given to small loans and that lending power would be increased.

The First National executive said interest in rural area problems would continue to be the aim of the banks. He pointed out that this policy has been a high point in the success of the Farmers National Bank.

WILLIAM D. Heiskell Jr. and Ted F. Corcoran voted the proxies of stockholders not present. Mrs. Betty Frazier and Mrs. Fred L. Tipton served as tellers in the voting.

W. D. Heiskell, John H. Dunlap Jr., vice president, Howard Smith and R. V. Hamman were elected members of a committee to meet with First National Bank officials upon receipt of approval from the U. S. Comptroller of the Currency. A copy of the proceedings of the Thursday meeting was sent to the comptroller.

Officials of both banks said it will be about a month before all legal requirements can be fulfilled and the merger accomplished.

Santa's Aide Now Looking For Some Help

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Albert Warnhoff spent most of his life playing Santa's helper and now he needs someone to follow in his footsteps.

Warnhoff, 72, a carpenter and lumberman, spent his last 59 years building more than 45,000 toys and sending them to boys and girls in hospitals and orphanages all over the world.

"Of the many honors I have received," he said, "the one I like best was to see the sparkle in a sick child's eyes when I gave him a toy. I feel more happy than if I had piled up a lot of money and been a big shot."

But Santa's helper is in an Ann Arbor Hospital with lung cancer. He made only 500 toys this year. They'll be delivered to children in hospitals in the area next week.

Warnhoff retired when he turned 66 and devoted his full time to his workshop. He turned out angels, cradles, benches, rocking horses, boats, dogs that wiggle their tails—all manner of toys.

But, he says, he hasn't been able to find anyone to take over. "I'm sorry about it. There are going to be an awful lot of children without toys this year."

Blue Chips Show Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Selective gains by blue chips helped boost the stock market in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .80 at 265.20 with industrials up 1.40, rails up .20 and utilities up .30. Most advances were small and a good many leading issues were unchanged.

Renewed investment buying was drawn into the oils, possibly because of a widely circulated comment that the next market advance may be headed by such cyclical issues which are not yet "overpriced."

At the same time, however, tobacco posted a string of moderate gains as they recovered from some sharp profit taking of recent sessions. Steels did virtually nothing. Motors, chemicals, rails and electrical equipments were generally higher.

Tshornbe Says

U.N. officials acknowledged that the Katangans seemed to be holding their own against the smaller but better equipped U.N. force.

Katangans seemed to be increasing their mortar and sniping fire on U.N. positions on the outskirts, particularly the U.N. headquarters and its nearby Gurkha camp.

Tshornbe returned during the night from his private visit to Paris to take up personal direction of the fight. He flew to neighboring Northern Rhodesia and drove from there to Elisabethville with a small escort of soldiers.

Mortar explosions and machine-gun fire rang out during the night from a suburb bordering the vital highway between Elisabethville and the city's main airport, still held by U.N. troops.

A see-saw battle appeared in full swing for a strategic underpass—one of the main gateways to the capital from the suburbs.

Swedish troops claimed they had seized the tunnel Wednesday but a U.N. spokesman indicated Thursday night that they did not control the whole area.

Katanga forces held control of the center of Elisabethville, which the U.N. forces have made no attempt to penetrate. Fighting has been confined so far to the outskirts, chiefly in the northwest where the new and old airports and the U.N. headquarters are located.

The government radio sounded a new call to arms for the Katangans people to wage war with "bullets or poison arrows" for a fight to the finish until every last man of the U.N. is driven out of Katanga.

Ex-Convict Kills Policeman, Self

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—An ex-convict shot and killed a Toledo policeman today, then apparently killed himself when police trapped him in an East Side garage.

The patrolman was Walter P. Boyle, 29. He was struck by four bullets as he attempted to serve a warrant on Raymond Brothers, 30, of Toledo.

A short time later officers cornered Brothers in a garage four blocks from where Boyle was killed.

Officers said they fired several tear gas pellets into the garage and then heard two shots. Brothers was found dead inside.

NEW YORK (AP)—"It is my prediction that there will be more Christmas music in the churches, on the radio and on TV this Christmas than ever before," says Dr. Jesse M. Bader, general secretary of the World Convention of Churches of Christ (Disciples).

"Why? Because our world needs the Christ of Christmas now more than ever. Today America is called upon to make him central and not marginal."

Dr. Bader predicted further: "There will be more window displays with Christmas scenes and more carol singing in communities across our land. There will be a much greater exchange of appropriate religious Christmas cards."

On the latter point, the Greeting Card Association already is able to say that Dr. Bader is correct.

This year three billion Christmas cards will go through the mail, the association says, and approximately 30 per cent will be religious in design and message. Ten years ago about 10 per cent were religious in theme. The increase has been steady throughout the decade.

Anti-Pollution Gear Planned For '63 Cars

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry has agreed to equip all new cars and trucks with anti-air pollution devices starting with the 1963 model year.

The action came less than four months after Abraham A. Ribicoff, secretary of the Health, Education and Welfare Department, told the industry to come up with a voluntary solution or face congressional action.

The board of directors of the Automobile Manufacturers Association today recommended positive crankcase ventilation systems, often called blowby devices.

Such devices have been installed on all new cars offered for sale in California since the start of the 1961 model year.

Blowby fumes are gases that slip by the pistons during the combustion process. Normally they are drawn into the air by the movement of the car.

The positive ventilation system recirculates these vapors from the crankcase back into the engine.

The system used is manufactured by the AC Spark Plug Di-

Revaluation of the U. S. foreign aid program continues in Washington, particularly in relation to the aid given such communist nations as Poland and Yugoslavia. The theory that such aid served the nation's interest might have been relevant at one time. Now both countries are following the Moscow line without deviation.

Another imminent administration decision is whether to finance a massive hydroelectric project on the Volta River in Ghana. Judging by President Nkrumah's policies, that is certainly in the doubtful area.

At the conference of "neutral" nations in Belgrade last summer Nkrumah supported Moscow on every issue. Returning home, he dismissed his British military advisers, began buying Soviet military equipment and sought Soviet loans. Hundreds of Ghanaian cadets are being flown to Moscow for military training.

Ghanaian newspapers follow the Soviet line. Nkrumah has the power of death against any persons engaging in "activities" against the state, a youth movement and collective farms are getting under way and the Marxists are steadily taking over. Popular acclaim for Queen Elizabeth during her recent visit may have slowed up the dictator's intent to withdraw from the British Commonwealth.

Nkrumah's ambition is to weld Africa into one empire with himself as the head. With Moscow calling the tunes, of course. Why should Washington help to finance his ambitious scheme?

Always Play Your Hunches! By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The man was tall, ruggedly handsome, and at the age of 26 he had decided he was the world's worst automobile salesman.

Acting on a hunch, he went into a London film company's office and said: "I want to act!"

Instead of being thrown out on his ear, the young man was given a job as an extra. Then he became a stand-in.

Now, after acting some 400 roles in movies and on stage and television, Michael Rennie is a top star in all three fields.

Rennie, an ex-Royal Air Force pilot, is a master of savvy as an actor. In person he is cheerfully blunt and forceful, and not at all averse to expressing his opinions.

For example, he believes implicitly in trusting in one's hunches.

"Although we've intellectualized ourselves a long way," he said, "we are still animals—and animals have guiding instincts, or hunches."

"Unfortunately, we don't follow them enough. We reason too much and waver. We have lost the ability to trust in our hunches and act on them."

"I believe in first impressions. They are rarely wrong. Whenever I failed to follow a hunch in my life usually I regretted it later."

Rennie is convinced his comparatively late start as an actor was a help rather than a handicap.

"I don't see how people much younger than 26 can portray emotions they have never experienced or characters they have never encountered," he said. "The older you are the more life has prepared you to become an actor."

He believes maturity also is likely to endow a performer with solid standards of his own "to withstand those of Hollywood—and they have some very odd standards in that neck of the woods."

Rennie's view of the American film capital, where he spent seven years, is somewhat less than flattering.

"Everybody in Hollywood—from the top on down—is terrified of something. Fear is an even more prevalent emotion there than sex."

"They are the most insecure people in the world, mostly because they lacked security before they came there."

"Most of them have forgotten how to give an honest answer. Before giving you a truthful opinion they glance over both shoulders to see if anyone else is watching or listening."

Here is Rennie's own idea of personal security:

"To be secure you have to be contented as a person, and by that I don't mean you should become a cabbage."

"The discontent of most people is a result of trying to keep up with the Joneses. As long as you set your standards by someone else, you're bound to be discontented—because you'll pick someone who has something you don't have."

"You have to pick your own standards and live by them. You have to be what you think you are—not dependent on what others say or think of you."

And follow those hunches!

The Business World By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—The drop in total unemployment announced by President Kennedy is the best Christmas present many communities across the nation could ask.

Both business and government will be taking bows. But don't forget the consumer either.

In Bern, Switzerland 30,000 farmers rioted over food prices, pelted police with eggs and vegetables. The cops were pretty lucky at that, since it seems there are no watermelon growers among 'em.

A check of patients in hospitals in Glasgow, Scotland, show they'd rather watch TV than have visitors. Can't get rid of a visitor with a flick of the wrist!

Winter, points out Zadok Dumbkopf, repeats its history not in cycles but in ice-cycles.

The population of Greater Paris has zoomed in seven years by 1,100,000 to a total of more than 8,500,000. French housing officials report, "Greater Paris is right!"

The Vienna, Austria, zoo once owned a peacock that thought it was a mud turtle — Factographs. How modest can a critter get?

A naturalist says bees have a language of their own. Milt the sterling printer, suggests it must be a hum-dinger!

There are 53 million households in the United States today, according to the Census Bureau. That's a lot of chimneys for Santa Claus to have to visit come Christmas Eve!

The President told the AFL-CIO convention that for the first time in a year the percentage of the total labor force out of work was down from that sticky 7 per cent range. In November it was close to 6 per cent—too high, but at least a step in the right direction.

A number of communities already have been taken from the official roster of areas with major unemployment.

Current news items suggest that the December figures will be even pleasanter when tallied.

There's the seasonal bogey of January and February just ahead—a period when temporary Christmas jobs have disappeared and much outdoor work is stymied.

But the better business climate in general and the evident greater confidence among consumers bolster hopes for a still further advance in the admittedly difficult task of licking the basic unemployment problem.

Much of the rise in November employment to a new high for the month of 67,349,000 of which the President spoke was due to increasing industrial output.

Who gets the credit? Government agencies will point to the step taken to counter the recession—speeding government spending in a number of fields, increased government orders involving future outflow of Treasury cash, planning for retraining workers whose previous skills are no longer in as great demand.

Many industrial spokesmen regard the upswing as a normal part of the business cycle, with or without government prodding. They cite the return to building up inventories instead of living off them, the slow but steady catching up of demand with the production capacity built up in recent years, and the long-term confidence of the business community in the economy.

Consumers have few spokesmen. But consumer should be credited with refusing to panic during the recession. Instead they kept right on spending about as much as ever.

Of late they have returned to putting more of this spending into durable goods. The auto industry crowing over the late volume of new car in recent week. The appliance industry reports increased demand.

All of this encourages manufacturers to speed up production schedules. At first this meant chiefly the lengthening of weeks. Of late it has meant adding more workers to factory rolls. And all along there has been an increase in the number of jobs in the service industries.

The long-term problem still remains, unfortunately. This is that the labor force is growing fast now and will continue to for several years as the war babies and their postwar brothers and sisters come of working age.

And complicating this problem of always creating more jobs than last year is technological progress. New machine and new production methods mean more work can be turned out with the same number of workers. Many of the older workers, and the youngsters coming into the labor force, haven't the skills required to handle the new machines.

Th nation can be thankful more persons are working this Christmas season. It still faces the job of taking care of a rising labor force and a hard core of unemployed.

Labor, business, government—all agree that 6 per cent of the labor force out of work is still too much.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ASPRY OCTOGENARIAN with an undiminished passion for seeing his name in print cooked up the idea of a club for 80-year-olds and soon had a waiting list—not to mention five requests for interviews. No fool he, he granted the first one to town's prettiest reporter. "Is it true that all your members are past eighty?" she asked. "Yes'm," he cackled happily. "All but two, that is: They're seventy-nine. We figured it would be best to have some hot, young blood in the organization!"

Things weren't going too well in the first year Sunday school class. Nobody seemed able to recall the identity of St. Matthew. Nor did they do any better with St. Mark. Finally the teacher said hopefully, "Surely somebody will remember who Peter was?"

A small boy in the last row came to the rescue. "Teacher," he piped, "Wasn't he a wabbit?"

3. Strep throats cause scarlet fever. T—F—

5. Strep throats cause heart trouble, arthritis and kidney trouble. T—F—

1. False. Colds, irritating smoke and smog, and dry, heated air all leave your throat feeling like rough sandpaper. Still, streptococcus ("strep") infection accounts for many sore throats. And while strep throats are less common, they're more serious.

2. False. Many virus infections mimic the fiery inflammation and creamy crusting of strep infection. Mild strep throats are often passed off as minor throat irritation, when the victim feels neither feverish nor pooped.

If a cotton applicator—dabbed against throat lining—carries strep germs into laboratory test tubes, you have a strep throat.

3. True. Certain strep germs manufacture a poison that roughens and reddens skin. Generally, one bout of scarlet fever leaves you immune to this poison. But when you're vulnerable, poison-producing strep germs will trigger scarlet fever.

4. True. While other miracle drugs fight strep infection, penicillin kills the germ. To insure against a smoldering infection, you need 10 days of treatment or a long acting injection.

Lozenges and gargles kill only surface infection. They reach strep germs deep inside the throat wall. Still, gargling with warm water containing ¼ teaspoon of salt or two crushed aspirins per glass soothes irritated, inflamed membrane.

5. True. If you've inherited the tendency, certain strep infections can trigger rheumatic fever, rheumatoid arthritis, nephritis (kidney trouble) or similar ailments. You can't change your inheritance. But you can prevent strep infections.

You don't need penicillin for every sore throat—just those that show strep germs in the lab.

Letter to The Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

I have been a Circleville football fan for a long time and played some at CHS, too. I am very proud of this year's co-champion team.

But I was at the Booster football banquet this week and I felt an injustice was done there. I might say I was surprised, as was others in the audience, when the co-captains for next year's team were announced.

Let me add that what I am about to say does not reflect on the two boys who were selected. They are fine boys and fine football players and I wish them all the luck in the world next year.

There is a boy on the team who I think should have been captain or a co-captain. I won't mention his name because I think it is apparent of whom I speak. I don't know why the coaches didn't pick him, because he has all the requirements of a leader. He has played three years of varsity football and maybe will play next year.

He is a fine young man and was named to this year's All-SCO team.

We say we are Americans and we say equal rights to everyone. Yet we close our eyes to the things we say we believe in.

The boy I speak of has given Circleville three years of good football, and yet he is not good enough to lead next year's grid squad.

I know the boy is hurt, because it hurt me. I hope that the coaches wake up.

He Finally Admits It By George Sokolsky

Fidel Castro has now made it clear beyond a doubt that he is a Marxist-Leninist, that is, a Communist of the breed of Soviet Russia. He says that he has been one of them for some time. Therefore, the defenders of Castro, as not being a Communist, are either ignorant or untruthful.

Castro said:

"I am a Marxist-Leninist and will be one until the day I die."

Thus we have his own statement of the case and the apologies of Herbert Matthews of "The New York Times" proves to be false. Castro's confession also establishes beyond doubt that those officials of the State Department who are responsible for defending Castro and helping to put him in power were in error and that they ought to be dismissed summarily.

The significance of Castro's admission is not so much that he is a Communist which all informed persons knew to be so and to which Ambassadors Arthur Gardner and Earl E. T. Smith witnessed. Its significance and importance lie in the inadequate policy-forming in the State Department and the White House which is in too great a measure dependent upon the CIA which is supposed to supply correct and adequate information and never has.

Castro's admission that he is a Marxist-Leninist puts an end to the falsehoods which are being spread by various committees and organizations in favor of what is called a "free" Cuba. It raises again the question of the reestablishment of the Monroe Doctrine as a fundamental principle of American policy. If we are to intervene, as we are now doing in the Dominican Republic, let us, at any rate, intervene on the right side for a change.

American intervention in European, African, Asiatic and Latin American affairs during the recent decades has been based on the supposition that we are opposed to dictatorships but that we must tolerate dictatorships if they are Communist because we are opposed to any form of Conservatism and favor every form of "democracy" even if what is called democracy is the dictatorship of the proletariat as devised by Marx and Lenin.

Thus in China, the United States intervened in favor of the Communist regime of Mao Tse-tung and against the pro-American regime of Chiang Kai-shek. Thus, in Korea, we prevented General Douglas MacArthur from putting an end to a Communist regime. Thus in French Indochina, we made it possible for Ho Chi-minh to establish a Communist state. Thus, we failed to resist the Soviet effort to establish Communist states out of the defeated powers of World War II, which we believed that we were rescuing from Nazi imperialism only to turn them over to Soviet imperialism.

Castro's confession warrants a reorganization of American policy personnel and a revision of American policy throughout the world. When a policy proves to be a failure, it need not be sustained by reactionary bigotry. Our Cuban policy has proved to be a failure and we ought to be ready to revise it.

Prior to the cancellation of the Monroe Doctrine, it was American policy that we did not intervene in the affairs of other countries, but that we also would not tolerate intervention by other countries when such intervention affected our right. Not only was the Monroe Doctrine enunciated to this end,

Ghana Leans to Reds

Revaluation of the U. S. foreign aid program continues in Washington, particularly in relation to the aid given such communist nations as Poland and Yugoslavia. The theory that such aid served the nation's interest might have been relevant at one time. Now both countries are following the Moscow line without deviation.

Another imminent administration decision is whether to finance a massive hydroelectric project on the Volta River in Ghana. Judging by President Nkrumah's policies, that is certainly in the doubtful area.

At the conference of "neutral" nations in Belgrade last summer Nkrumah supported Moscow on every issue. Returning home, he dismissed his British military advisers, began buying Soviet military equipment and sought Soviet loans. Hundreds of Ghanaian cadets are being flown to Moscow for military training.

Ghanian newspapers follow the Soviet line, Nkrumah has the power of death against any persons engaging in "activities" against the state, a youth movement and collective farms are getting under way and the Marxists are steadily taking over. Popular acclaim for Queen Elizabeth during her recent visit may have slowed up the dictator's intent to withdraw from the British Commonwealth.

Nkrumah's ambition is to weld Africa into one empire with himself as the head. With Moscow calling the tunes, of course. Why should Washington help to finance his ambitious scheme?

Always Play Your Hunches!

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — The man was tall, ruggedly handsome, and at the age of 26 he had decided he was the world's worst automobile salesman.

Acting on a hunch, he went into a London film company's office and said: "I want to act!"

Instead of being thrown out on his ear, the young man was given a job as an extra. Then he became a stand-in.

Now, after acting some 400 roles in movies and on stage and television, Michael Rennie is a top star in all three fields.

Rennie, an ex-Royal Air Force pilot, is a master of sauvoy as an actor. In person he is cheerfully blunt and forceful, and not at all averse to expressing his opinions.

For example, he believes implicitly in trusting in one's hunches.

"Although we've intellectualized ourselves a long way," he said, "we are still animals—and animals have guiding instincts, or hunches."

"Unfortunately, we don't follow them enough. We reason too much and waver. We have lost the ability to trust in our hunches and act on them.

"I believe in first impressions. They are rarely wrong. Whenever I failed to follow a hunch in my life usually I regretted it later."

Rennie is convinced his comparatively late start as an actor was a help rather than a handicap.

"I don't see how people much younger than 26 can portray emotions they have never experienced or characters they have never encountered," he said. "The older you are the more life has prepared you to become an actor."

He believes maturity also is likely to endow a performer with solid standards of his own "to withstand those of Hollywood—and they have some very odd standards in that neck of the woods."

Rennie's view of the American film capital, where he spent seven years, is somewhat less than flattering.

"Everybody in Hollywood—from the top on down—is terrified of something. Fear is an even more prevalent emotion there than sex.

"They are the most insecure people in the world, mostly because they lacked security before they came there."

"Most of them have forgotten how to give an honest answer. Before giving you a truthful opinion they glance over both shoulders to see if anyone else is watching or listening."

Here is Rennie's own idea of personal security:

"To be secure you have to be contented as a person, and by that I don't mean you should become a cabbage."

"The discontent of most people is a result of trying to keep up with the Joneses. As long as you set your standards by someone else, you're bound to be discontented—because you'll pick someone who has something you don't have."

"You have to pick your own standards and live by them. You have to be what you think you are—not dependent on what others say or think of you."

And follow those hunches!

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—The drop in total unemployment announced by President Kennedy is the best Christmas present many communities across the nation could ask.

Both business and government will be taking bows. But don't forget the consumer either.

The President told the AFL-CIO convention that for the first time in a year the percentage of the total labor force out of work was down from that sticky 7 per cent range. In November it was close to 6 per cent—too high, but at least a step in the right direction.

A number of communities already have been taken from the official roster of areas with major unemployment.

Current news items suggest that the December figures will be even pleasanter when tallied.

There's the seasonal bogey of January and February just ahead—a period when temporary Christmas jobs have disappeared and much outdoor work is stymied.

But the better business climate in general and the evident greater confidence among consumers bolster hopes for a still further advance in the admittedly difficult task of licking the basic unemployment problem.

Much of the rise in November employment to a new high for the month of 67,349,000 of which the President spoke was due to increasing industrial output.

Who gets the credit? Government agencies will point to the step taken to counter the recession—speeding government spending in a number of fields, increased government orders involving future outflow of Treasury cash, planning for retraining workers whose previous skills are no longer in as great demand.

Many industrial spokesmen regard the upswing as a normal part of the business cycle, with or without government prodding. They cite the return to building up inventories instead of living off them, the slow but steady catching up of demand with the production capacity built up in recent years, and the long-term confidence of the business community in the economy.

Consumers have few spokesmen. But consumer should be credited with refusing to panic during the recession. Instead they kept right on spending about as much as ever.

Of late they have returned to putting more of this spending into durable good. The auto industry is crowing over the ale volume of new car in recent week. The appliance industry reports increased demand.

All of this encourages manufacturers to speed up production schedules. At first this meant chiefly the lengthening of week weeks. Of late it has meant adding more workers to factory rolls. And all along there has been an increase in the number of jobs in the service industries.

The long-term problem still remains, unfortunately. This is that the labor force is growing fast now and will continue to for several years as the war babies and their postwar brothers and sisters come of working age.

And complicating this problem of always creating more jobs than last year is technological progress. New machine and new production methods mean more work can be turned out with the same number of workers. Many of the older workers, and the youngsters coming into the labor force, haven't the skills required to handle the new machines.

Nation can be thankful more persons are working this Christmas season. It still faces the job of taking care of a rising labor force and a hard core of unemployed.

Labor, business, government—all agree that 6 per cent of the labor force out of work is still too much.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A SPRY OCTOGENARIAN with an undiminished passion for seeing his name in print cooked up the idea of a club for 80-year-olds and soon had a waiting list—not to mention five requests for interviews. No fool he, he granted the first one to town's prettiest reporter. "Is it true that all your members are past eighty?" she asked. "Yes'm," he cackled happily. "All but two, that is: They're seventy-nine. We figured it would be best to have some hot, young blood in the organization!"

Things weren't going too well in the first year Sunday school class. Nobody seemed able to recall the identity of St. Matthew. Nor did they do any better with St. Mark. Finally the teacher said hopefully, "Surely somebody will remember who Peter was?"

A small boy in the last row came to the rescue. "Teacher," he piped, "Wasn't he a rabbit?"

2. With one glance, your doctor can pick out a strep throat. T—F—

3. Strep throats cause scarlet fever. T—F—

4. Penicillin is the ideal treatment. T—F—

5. Strep throats cause heart trouble, arthritis and kidney trouble. T—F—

1. False. Colds, irritating smoke and smog, and dry, heated air all leave your throat feeling like rough sandpaper. Still, streptococcus ("strep") infection accounts for many sore throats. And while strep throats are less common, they're more serious.

2. False. Many virus infections mimic the fiery inflammation and creamy crusting of strep infection. Mild strep throats are often passed off as minor throat irritation, when the victim feels neither feverish nor pooped.

If a cotton applicator—dabbed against throat lining—carries strep germs into laboratory test tubes, you have a strep throat.

3. True. Certain strep germs manufacture a poison that roughens and reddens skin. Generally, one bout of scarlet fever leaves you immune to this poison. But when you're vulnerable, poison-producing strep germs will trigger scarlet fever.

4. True. While other miracle drugs fight strep infection, penicillin kills the germ. To insure against a smoldering infection, you need 10 days of treatment or a long acting injection.

Lozenges and gargles kill only surface infection. They reach strep germs deep inside the throat wall. Still, gargling with warm water containing ¼ teaspoon of salt or two crushed aspirin per glass soothes irritated, inflamed membrane.

5. True. If you've inherited the tendency, certain strep infections can trigger rheumatic fever, rheumatoid arthritis, nephritis (kidney trouble) or similar ailments. You can't change your inheritance. But you can prevent strep infections.

You don't need penicillin for every sore throat—just those that show strep germs in the lab.

Letter to The Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

I have been a Circleville football fan for a long time and played some at CHS, too. I am very proud of this year's co-champion team.

But I was at the Booster football banquet this week and I felt an injustice was done there. I might say I was surprised, as was others in the audience, when the co-captains for next year's team were announced.

Let me add that what I am about to say does not reflect on the two boys who were selected. They are fine boys and fine football players and I wish them all the luck in the world next year.

There is a boy on the team who I think should have been captain or a co-captain. I won't mention his name because I think it is apparent of whom I speak. I don't know why the coaches didn't pick him, because he has all the requirements of a leader. He has played three years of varsity football and maybe will play next year.

He is a fine young man and was named to this year's All-SCO team.

We say we are Americans and we say equal rights to everyone. Yet we close our eyes to the things we say we believe in.

The boy I speak of has given Circleville three years of good football, and yet he is not good enough to lead next year's grid squad.

I know the boy is hurt, because it hurt me. I hope that the coaches wake up.

He Finally Admits It

By George Sokolsky

Fidel Castro has now made it clear beyond a doubt that he is a Marxist-Leninist, that is, a Communist of the breed of Soviet Russia. He says that he has been one of them for some time. Therefore, the defenders of Castro, as not being a Communist, are either ignorant or untruthful.

Castro said:

"I am a Marxist-Leninist and will be one until the day I die."

Thus we have his own statement of the case and the apologies of Herbert Matthews of "The New York Times" proves to be false. Castro's confession also establishes beyond doubt that those officials of the State Department who are responsible for defending Castro and helping to put him in power were in error and that they ought to be dismissed summarily.

The significance of Castro's admission is not so much that he is a Communist which all informed persons knew to be so and to which Ambassadors Arthur Gardner and Earl E. T. Smith witnessed. Its significance and importance lie in the inadequate policy-forming in the State Department and the White House which is in too great a measure dependent upon the CIA which is supposed to supply correct and adequate information and never has.

Castro's admission that he is a Marxist-Leninist puts an end to the falsehoods which are being spread by various committees and organizations in favor of what is called a "free" Cuba. It raises again the question of the reestablishment of the Monroe Doctrine as a fundamental principle of American policy. If we are to intervene, as we are now doing in the Dominican Republic, let us, at any rate, intervene on the right side for a change.

American intervention in European, African, Asiatic and Latin American affairs during the recent decades has been based on the supposition that we are opposed to dictatorships but that we must tolerate dictatorships if they are Communistic because we are opposed to any form of Conservatism and favor every form of "democracy" even if what is called democracy is the dictatorship of the proletariat as devised by Marx and Lenin.

Thus in China, the United States intervened in favor of the Communist regime of Mao Tse-tung and against the pro-American regime of Chiang Kai-shek. Thus, in Korea, we prevented General Douglas MacArthur from putting an end to a Communist regime. Thus in French Indochina, we made it possible for Ho Chi-minh to establish a Communist state. Prior to the cancellation of the Monroe Doctrine, it was American policy that we did not intervene in the affairs of other countries, but that we also would not tolerate intervention by other countries when such intervention affected our right. Not only was the Monroe Doctrine enunciated to this end, but the Open Door Policy regarding China was a similar statement of principle. Both were based on the fundamental concept of American foreign policy as enunciated by President George Washington in his "Farewell Address." This doctrine advocated the avoidance of intervention in the interest of safeguarding American integrity. In a word, this policy of non-intervention and resistance to intervention by others on the American continents was fundamental American doctrine until Woodrow Wilson brought this country into World War I. Franklin D. Roosevelt chose to follow Woodrow Wilson rather than George Washington and intervened not only in European affairs but assumed the role of world leadership for which the country was not ready. Historic evidence established beyond doubt that the policy of non-intervention was sound and beneficial to the United States. We built a great country when we avoided interference in the affairs of others. The British intervened and spent three centuries losing their colonies. An excellent example of avoidance of European intervention was the resistance to the establishment of Maximilian's kingdom in Mexico.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

No Better Answer!

DEAR ABBY: We are twins (16) who read your column every day and respect your opinion greatly. So do our parents. Our parents forbid us to date boys out of our religion. We don't intend to get serious about these boys, we just want to date them. Isn't it better to go with them and get it out of our systems than not be able to, and think we are missing something?

THE TWINS

DEAR TWINS: The following letter was received the same day yours came. It's as good an answer as I could give. And it's from a girl your age: "Dear Abby; I have been wanting to write this letter for a long time.

I read your fabulous—and I do mean fabulous—book, 'Dear Teen-ager.' I followed your advice on personality and dating out of my faith. As a consequence, I am now going steady with the most wonderful boy in the world. He is of my own religion and he treats me like a queen. He has never asked me for anything more than a kiss. Abby, please go right on telling girls to stay with boys of their own faith and 'they'll stay out of difficult situations. Thank you with all my heart.

NEVER BEEN HAPPIER

DEAR ABBY: I want to ask you in all seriousness—how can a man know if his prospective bride is virtuous or not?

SERIOUS

DEAR SERIOUS: Ask her!

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Sucker's Wife" my husband used to make himself available for help all over the neighborhood while I had trouble getting him to fix things at home.

One day I took my baby's broken high chair to a neighbor's and got her to call my husband and ask him to fix it. She called him and he ran right over and put it in first-class condition. Afterwards, I told my husband and we all had a good laugh about it. Ever since then I have had no trouble getting things fixed at home.

G.A.

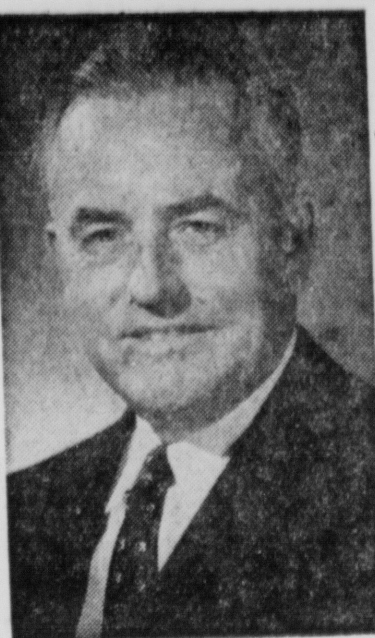

DEAR ABBY: I was impressed with the letter signed SUCKER'S WIFE. It was from the woman whose husband repaired everybody's appliances in the neighborhood free, but her own sewing machine had been in need of repairs for a year.

I've been in the sewing machine business since 1937, and have been taken advantage of many times, but I don't think I am the worse off for it. Will you write the lady and tell her I will be delighted to fix her sewing machine FREE if she'll pay the freight, both ways?

W.L.L., Fayetteville, N. C.

DEAR W. L. L.: You are very generous. The lady lives in Honolulu.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of this paper.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—In about a month Congress returns, and President Kennedy already is laying down some programs he wants approved in the 1962 election year which will mean a lot to him.

He has passed the word to his legislative leaders that he will fight for—among others—medical care for the aged, federal aid to education, and a lowering of tariffs on foreign imports.

All three are in the angry area where opponents with strong feelings will do all they can to stop him.

He came into office with a conservative Congress, even though his own Democrats were in a majority. In the 1962 congressional elections next November all House seats and one-third of the Senate seats are at stake.

Victory for the Republicans, giving them control of Congress, could take some of the snap out of his leadership which, on the whole, has been pretty conservative, too.

His own record in the presidency could be affected and, therefore, his chances for re-election in 1964.

So in 1962 he'll have extra reason to fight for what he proposes since the record he and his Democrats make next year will be a major point in the elections.

In the 1960 presidential race he promised quick action on civil rights if he defeated Vice President Richard M. Nixon. But when he won he didn't make good. He offered no civil rights program at all.

He can hardly fail to do something in this field next year if only because his own Civil Rights Commission this year, in five studied volumes, called for a number of steps to be taken.

In addition, some Democrats and Republicans will want action. But the test of his determination to get what he asks for will in this, as in his other programs, show up in the kind of fight he makes.

He's far from being an all-out fighter for everything he suggests to Congress, as he showed on medical care for the aged and federal aid to education.

By James Marlow

In addition to wrestling with Congress next year he'll almost surely have to deal with Russia on Berlin.

It's a good guess that he will put up a truly strenuous battle for lowering tariffs on imports.

Miss Warner, Mr. Peters Exchange Marriage Vows

MRS. ROBERT E. PETERS

Arrangements of bronze and yellow mums and pom-poms, accented with colored oak leaves, winter wheat and foliage, complimented by palms and candelabra decorated the altar of St. Matthew Lutheran Church at Lockbourne, when, at 7:30 p. m. on November 10, Miss Karen Lynn Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson E. Warner of Lockbourne, became the bride of Mr. Robert E. Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett O. Peters of Ashville. White satin bows with winter wheat and foliage marked the pews and white tapers with greenery completed the setting for the double ring ceremony. The Reverend E. William Bensch officiated.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory peau de soie and embroidered alencon lace designed on princess lines. Lace formed the portrait neckline and long sleeves that tapered to points over the hands. Lace appliqued motifs enhanced the front princess panel that accented the full bustle sides and back which flowed to form a chapel train. A seed-pearl crown fashioned in orange blossoms held the fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses, white feathered mums and white tulle centered with a miniature glass bluebird.

Ashville Group Plans Social And Workshop

A 6:30 p. m. potluck supper will begin the annual Christmas Workshop held by the First English Lutheran Church women on Wednesday at Ashville.

The Mary-Martha Circle will direct arrangements for the event.

The ladies will present various aspects of Christmas arrangements and decorations, package wrappings and handwork which has been made for Christmas gifts.

New circle officers will be elected at this meeting. In place of a gift exchange, the ladies will bring an offering wrapped as a Christmas decoration and place it on a small tree.

Children usually enjoy buttered croutons added to scrambled eggs. Throw in the croutons as you stir the eggs for the last time so the small pieces of toasted bread won't soften.

The easiest way to remove fat from soup stock and gravy is to chill the broth or sauce; the fat rises to the top and hardens and may be lifted off in pieces.

Remove both the stem structure and the seeds when you are preparing fresh pear halves for baking. If the pears are to be baked whole, fill the core cavities with sugar or other sweetening.

Ashville Group Plans Social And Workshop

A 6:30 p. m. potluck supper will begin the annual Christmas Workshop held by the First English Lutheran Church women on Wednesday at Ashville.

The Mary-Martha Circle will direct arrangements for the event. The ladies will present various aspects of Christmas arrangements and decorations, package wrappings and handwork which has been made for Christmas gifts.

New circle officers will be elected at this meeting. In place of a gift exchange, the ladies will bring an offering wrapped as a Christmas decoration and place it on a small tree.

Children usually enjoy buttered croutons added to scrambled eggs. Throw in the croutons as you stir the eggs for the last time so the small pieces of toasted bread won't soften.

The easiest way to remove fat from soup stock and gravy is to chill the broth or sauce; the fat rises to the top and hardens and may be lifted off in pieces.

Remove both the stem structure and the seeds when you are preparing fresh pear halves for baking. If the pears are to be baked whole, fill the core cavities with sugar or other sweetening.

THAT'S WHAT I WANT FOR CHRISTMAS!

SANTA and the FLYING SHOE

by Lucrece Beale

SYNOPSIS: Polydora was peaceful when King Ferdinand went to bed. But during the night, mysterious things began happening in the palace. And then, with a drashing roar, the dreadful Ipswitch returns!

CHAPTER SIX THE PEOPLE PANIC

This time the Ipswitch landed on an acre of Christmas trees which stood in little red and green pots behind the palace. These trees had been gathered from all over the land and were to be given to the poor on Christmas Eve. King Ferdinand had decorated them with tinsel and blue and silver balls and toy horns and candy canes and a golden star on the tip top of every one.

Now the field lay in ruins, the trees and the pots and the pretty decorations crushed beneath the enormous left foot of the Ipswitch.

In the palace itself all was confusion. The Ministers, gathered in the King's bedroom, were flung, violently about. A rare antique vase fell from a mantle piece and knocked the Minister of Science senseless, the Minister of War was wound into the bed springs and the King himself was tossed into the air and left hanging by his knees from the chandelier.

Gradually they righted themselves and, when dawn came, went out to survey the damage. Again, no one had seen the Ipswitch itself and the only thing that marked its passage was the foot print in the field of Christmas trees.

Now the people were really frightened and worse still, they had lost faith in King Ferdinand who had told them the Ipswitch had drowned. They began to mutter against the King and say that if he couldn't do something to defend the kingdom he should step down and let someone else rule the land.

But Ferdinand was undismayed. He set up a watch around the town and palace.

"If we keep our eyes open we are bound to see the Ipswitch when it comes again and when we do see it we will capture it, dead or alive!" He ordered his men to be alert and to attack at first sight of the enemy.

For three whole days and nights the guard with King Ferdinand in command, watched over the palace grounds and the Public Square and for three days and nights nothing happened.

On the fourth day a guard suddenly shouted, "Here it comes!"

The King and all the guards looked up and saw a great black shoe coming down from above. While they waited to attack the foot landed with a crash in an empty playground. The shock of the crash sent the guards sprawling and when they picked themselves up the Ipswitch was gone.

After this the King did not know what to do for how could he fight an enemy he could not see? To make matters worse, ever since the first appearances of the Ipswitch, the palace itself had been haunted.

Not only did doors open and close by themselves and sheets slide from the King's bed but the King often heard whispering sounds and creaking stairs and tapping on the walls when it was late at night and no one around at all.

Meanwhile, the people were sure that the next time the Ipswitch came it would step right on their very own homes. They howled for something to be done and, since they couldn't have the Ipswitch's head, some even began to clamor for the King's head!

Poor Ferdinand! He sat in his room and thought, "Oh, dear, why did all this have to happen so close to Christmas!" He remembered the letter to Santa he had never finished writing. "It's just as well," he sighed, "For by Christmas I shall not even be here anymore."

Tax Office Seeks Data Center Site

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service wants to locate its big new Cincinnati data center in a place where a stable labor supply will be likely.

That's the report from Ernest Vaughn, regional IRS director, who said bids would be advertised next month.

Announcement last week of plans for the data processing center, to employ about 1,500, kicked off a rash of campaigns seeking the center in Southwestern Ohio and Northern Kentucky.

Cincinnati officials, who want the center built in a slum clearance area near the downtown section, offered to set aside 11 acres for the project Wednesday.

Vaughn noted, however, the IRS wants land for the building and parking space for 750 cars. He said studies indicated the best place for a center was 10-12 miles outside the center of a major city.

tween belief in state and belief in God, it is clear that the most important study we Christians have is that of God's word, the Bible.

There are many great books
—many great Christian books—which outline philosophies for good living or point out the tragedies of sin. No other book, however, can "bring us under conviction of sin," as Wilbur
Smith observes (in "Peloubet's Select Notes," p. 410). Nor can any other perform as well three other functions: teaching (of doctrine), correcting us in our evil ways and pointing out the way to right living. (See Timothy 3:16).

In this same verse is the notation that all scripture is "inspired by" or "inspired of" God.

Edward J. Young feels ("Peloubet's," pp. 409-410) that this is an incorrect translation.
The original Greek word is theopneustos, meaning literally
"God-breathed." Professor
Young points out that such constructions are usually passive, so that the passage would not mean that God imbued man's work with His Spirit, but that He Himself literally breathed it forth through the Holy Ghost.
The remainder of the passage from Paul's second letter to Timothy includes an exhortation to renew his devotion to God (4:1-5), and to preach His word (5:1-5), as well as a warning to those who would oppose gregation realizes it in some measure, for "the eyes of all in the synagogue were fixed on Him" and "all spoke well of Him."

It is significant that Christ begins His ministry in this way, pointing out at the very start the verity of the Bible.

At the end of His ministry
He again returns to the Bible, placing its importance equal to His own. When He joins the two disciples after His resurrection, He does not dwell only on this glorious event, but on the fact that the scriptures had proclaimed it before, and teaches the disciples further in their interpretation.

Weekly Thought

The local Baha'i Faith group will stress this thought for the week:

"The religion of God is One Religion, and all the prophets have taught it, but it is a living and growing thing, not lifeless and unchanging."

"In the teaching of Moses we see the Bud; in that of Christ the Flower; in that of Baha'u'llah the Fruit. The flower does not destroy the bud, nor does the fruit destroy the flower. It destroys not, but fulfills."

Religious Influence in Ohio Dates Back to Pioneer Day

In villages and cities all over Ohio are historic churches which stand as monuments to the various religious groups which settled the Ohio country. In early Ohio most branches of the Protestant faith were represented. The first settlers brought the Congregational, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Lutheran churches into the West.

These were followed by the Methodist and Baptist faiths. Later German and Irish Immigration contributed a large Catholic population to the State. Some of the most interesting of the early religious groups, such as the Shakers and Zorites have since disappeared from the Ohio scene but the Moravians, the Quakers, the Swiss Mennonites, the Amish and the Mormons are still active in Ohio today.

The Moravian Church played a primary role in the development of Ohio. David Zeisberger, a Moravian missionary from Pennsylvania, founded the first white town in Ohio. In May, 1772, he chose a site near a spring and called it Schoenbrunn which in German means "Beautiful Spring." The first church in the Ohio country was erected here and as many as 40 Indians were converted to the Christian faith. The Revolutionary War put an end to this peaceful settlement. Though the Moravians were neutral, Zeisberger realized his colony could not stay clear of the conflict between the British and the colonists. In 1776 a final service was held in the church and then the structure was torn down to prevent its desecration. Schoenbrunn was abandoned and it eventually burned to the ground. Today one can visit the reconstructed village of Schoenbrunn located two miles southwest of New Philadelphia. The Sharon church near the village of Tuscarawas is also worth a visit. It is one of eight Moravian churches in Tuscarawas County, the only county in Ohio to contain religious structures of this faith.

The first Quakers to cross the Appalachian Mountains in the 1790s settled in Mount Pleasant, Ohio. The members called themselves Friends but are better known as Quakers, a name bestowed on them because under the stress of religious emotion they would tremble. The Quakers were pacifists, they expressed simplicity in their dress and daily living and a strict conformity in their religious practices. On days of worship, Sunday and Wednesday, they would gather at the meeting house. The men and women were grouped separately and there were often prolonged periods of silence. The Quakers built Friends' Meeting House in Mount Pleasant in 1814 where the first yearly meeting of the Quakers in the west was held. For nearly a century the large brick meeting house was the center of the Quaker faith in eastern Ohio. The building fell into disuse when differences arose among the congregation over church doctrine and members began to scatter to regions farther west. Today the Ohio Historical Society maintains Friends' Meeting House as an historic reminder of the early Quaker migration to Ohio.

The Shakers, so called because of the peculiar movement of their religious dance, had four communal colonies in Ohio. Union Village, five miles west of Lebanon, was the first of the Shaker settlements in Ohio and the ruling center of western Shakerism. This old settlement is now Otterbein Home, owned and operated by the United Brethren Church. The other settlements were Watervliet, six miles southeast of Dayton; Whitewater, near the Indiana-Ohio border in Hamilton County, and North Union, now the Shaker Heights area of Cleveland. The Shakers believed in common possession of property, a life of celibacy, confession of sin without which no one could become a member of the community, power over physical disease and separation from the world. The Shakers had no formal religious ceremonies but met together in the evenings at the meeting house for reading, dancing and the singing of hymns. The Shakers are no longer a part of the Ohio scene but their motto, "Put your hands to work and your hearts to God," is as timely today as when they practiced it in Ohio 150 years ago.

The Mennonites and the Amish arrived on the Ohio scene about 1808. The Mennonites are numerous in the Holmes and Wayne County region of Ohio. Theologically, they differ little from the Amish but are less conservative in dress and custom. They have churches and encourage higher education, supporting a small liberal arts institution, Bluffton College, in Allen County. The first Mennonite College in America was established in Wadsworth, Ohio. It was torn down many years ago but the Mennonite church, the oldest structure in Wadsworth, remains. The church, built in 1842, is considered a classic of early Western Reserve architecture. The historic structure was sold to St. Mark's Episcopal Church in 1959 when the Mennonites decided to build a new church for its growing congregation.

Amish settlements are to be found in many parts of Ohio but especially in the Holmes County region. The Amish are a branch of the Mennonites who broke with the parent sect in 1699 and organized under the leadership of Jacob Ammann. The Amish are opposed to all forms of ostentation and worldly pleasure, to violence, to participation in government, to other than an elementary education. Because the building and maintenance of a church is considered to be an accommodation to the world, the Amish hold services in their homes or barns. The Amish generally engage in farming and rank among the best farmers in the nation.

The Zorites were Germans who dissented from the Lutheran Church. In 1817, under the leadership of Joseph Baumbler, they founded the community of Zoar in Tuscarawas County. Known as Separatists, they worked and maintained property as a group. Discontent among younger members forced the colonists in 1893 to divide their wealth and abandon the experiment of communal living. Zoar still maintains the original charm and flavor of its days as a Religious Communal Society. The King's Palace is maintained by the Ohio Historical Society as a museum for displaying the handicraft of the Zoar settlers. Especially interesting are the Zoar Gardens which follow the description of the New Jerusalem as described in The Book of Revelations.

Mormonism came to Ohio in 1830 with the arrival of Joseph Smith to Kirtland. Smith went about seeking converts to Mormonism and was well on his way to making Kirtland a great Mormon city. However, the failure of his bank in 1837, coupled with ill feelings between the Mormons and other Kirtland residents, forced Smith and many of his converts to move on to Missouri in 1838. After the death of Joseph Smith in 1844 at the hands of an Illinois mob, some of the Mormons with Brigham Young as leader moved to Utah. Another group was the forerunner of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints which now owns the Kirtland Temple. This impressive monument to Prophet Joseph and Mormonism in Ohio is located in Kirtland. The cornerstone of the country's first Mormon Temple was laid July 23, 1834 and the temple was dedicated on March 27, 1836. Of interest to visitors is the glistening effect of the exterior walls of the temple which was achieved by mixing ground glass and chinaware donated by members, into the plaster.

Rural People To Be Trained On Protection

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's extension service has launched a campaign to educate rural people how to make preparations for protecting themselves, their livestock and property in event of nuclear attack.

Major responsibility for this campaign will rest on county agricultural agent.

In assigning the department the responsibility for Civil Defense in rural America, Frank B. Ellis, director of the office of emergency planning, said "the rural population of America is vital to national security."

"It is essential," Ellis added, "that farmers and others living in rural areas understand the nature of radioactive fallout—its effect on people, land, livestock, crops and other agricultural products—so that appropriate steps may be taken now to minimize the damage from such a catastrophe."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman will dedicate his department's new $16.5 million national animal disease laboratory at Ames, Iowa, Dec. 14.

The new laboratory consists of 33 buildings for basic and applied studies of the principal infectious diseases prevalent in the United States. When fully staffed the laboratory will employ about 500 persons.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department, now run by Democrats, had a good word to say for a soil bank land retirement program instituted by the preceding Republican administration.

Under this program, farmers were paid to take cropland out of production for a number of years. The objective was to help reduce overproduction.

A department study of the soil bank program as it has functioned in Georgia made this comment:

"Results of the study indicate that the program in Georgia has contributed to adjustments in farm production and resource use. The program had facilitated removal of land from production on farm where conservation needs were great. It has also provided a means of shifting less profitable units out of production and of increasing income on most participating farms."

Religious Influence in Ohio Dates Back to Pioneer Day

In villages and cities all over Ohio are historic churches which stand as monuments to the various religious groups which settled the Ohio country. In early Ohio most branches of the Protestant faith were represented. The first settlers brought the Congregational, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Lutheran churches into the West.

These were followed by the Methodist and Baptist faiths. Later German and Irish immigration contributed a large Catholic population to the State. Some of the most interesting of the early religious groups, such as the Shakers and Zorites have since disappeared from the Ohio scene but the Moravians, the Quakers, the Swiss Mennonites, the Amish and the Mormons are still active in Ohio today.

The Moravian Church played a primary role in the development of Ohio. David Zeisberger, a Moravian missionary from Pennsylvania, founded the first white town in Ohio. In May, 1772, he chose a site near a spring and called it Schoenbrunn which in German means "Beautiful Spring". The first church in the Ohio country was erected here and as many as 40 Indians were converted to the Christian faith. The Revolutionary War put an end to this peaceful settlement. Though the Moravians were neutral, Zeisberger realized his colony could not stay clear of the conflict between the British and the colonists. In 1776 a final service was held in the church and then the structure was torn down to prevent its desecration. Schoenbrunn was abandoned and it eventually burned to the ground. Today one can visit the reconstructed village of Schoenbrunn located two miles southwest of New Philadelphia. The Sharon church near the village of Tuscarawas is also worth a visit. It is one of eight Moravian churches in Tuscarawas County, the only county in Ohio to contain religious structures of this faith.

The first Quakers to cross the Appalachian Mountains in the 1790s settled in Mount Pleasant, Ohio. The members called themselves Friends but are better known as Quakers, a name bestowed on them because under the stress of religious emotion they would tremble. The Quakers were pacifists, they expressed simplicity in their dress and daily living and a strict conformity in their religious practices. On days of worship, Sunday and Wednesday, they would gather at the meeting house. The men and women were grouped separately and there were often prolonged periods of silence. The Quakers built Friends' Meeting House in Mount Pleasant in 1814 where the first yearly meeting of the Quakers in the west was held. For nearly a century the large brick meeting house was the center of the Quaker faith in eastern Ohio. The building fell into disuse when differences arose among the congregation over church doctrine and members began to scatter to regions farther west. Today the Ohio Historical Society maintains Friends' Meeting House as an historic reminder of the early Quaker migration to Ohio.

The Shakers, so called because of the peculiar movement of their religious dance, had four communal colonies in Ohio. Union Village, five miles west of Lebanon, was the first of the Shaker settlements in Ohio and the ruling center of western Shakerism. This old settlement is now Otterbein Home, owned and operated by the United Brethren Church. The other settlements were Watervliet, six miles southeast of Dayton; Whitewater, near the Indiana-Ohio border in Hamilton County, and North Union, now the Shaker Heights area of Cleveland. The Shakers believed in common possession of property, a life of celibacy, confession of sin without which no one could become a member of the community, power over physical disease and separation from the world. The Shakers had no formal religious ceremonies but met together in the evenings at the meeting house for reading, dancing and the singing of hymns. The Shakers are no longer a part of the Ohio scene but their motto, "Put your hands to work and your hearts to God," is as timely today as when they practiced it in Ohio 150 years ago.

The Mennonites and the Amish arrived on the Ohio scene about 1808. The Mennonites are numerous in the Holmes and Wayne County region of Ohio. Theologically, they differ little from the Amish but are less conservative in dress and custom. They have churches and encourage higher education, supporting a small liberal arts institution, Bluffton College, in Allen County. The first Mennonite College in America was established in Wadsworth, Ohio. It was torn down many years ago but the Mennonite church, the oldest structure in Wadsworth, remains. The church, built in 1842, is considered a classic of early Western Reserve architecture. The historic structure was sold to St. Mark's Episcopal Church in 1959 when the Mennonites decided to build a new church for its growing congregation.

Amish settlements are to be found in many parts of Ohio but especially in the Holmes County region. The Amish are a branch of the Mennonites who broke with the parent sect in 1699 and organized under the leadership of Jacob Ammann. The Amish are opposed to all forms of ostentation and worldly pleasure, to violence, to participation in government, to other than an elementary education. Because the building and maintenance of a church is considered to be a commercial enterprise, the Amish hold services in their homes or barns. The Amish generally engage in farming and rank among the best farmers in the nation.

The Zorites were Germans who dissented from the Lutheran Church. In 1817, under the leadership of Joseph Baumbach, they founded the community of Zor in Tuscarawas County. Known as Separatists, they worked and maintained property as a group. Discontent among younger members forced the colonists in 1893 to divide the wealth and abandon the experiment of communal living. Zor still maintains the original charm and flavor of its days as a Religious Communal Society. The King's Palace is maintained by the Ohio Historical Society as a museum for displaying the handicraft of the Zor settlers. Especially interesting are the Zor Gardens which follow the description of the New Jerusalem as described in The Book of Revelations.

Ferguson Repeats On AP All-America Grid Team for '61

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1961 Associated Press All America football team, led by Ohio State fullback Bob Ferguson, has the biggest line in history featuring honor students Alex Kroll and Merlin Olsen.

Kroll, the Phi Beta Kappa candidate center who spurred Rutgers to its first unbeaten season, and Utah State's Olsen, top business administration scholar, are in a forward wall which averages an incredible 238 pounds.

Lone repeater from last year, Ferguson is joined in the backfield by Ernie Davis—first Negro to win the Heisman Trophy—spectacular Jimmy Saxton of Texas and versatile quarterback Sandy Stephens of Minnesota.

Rugged Jerry Hillebrand of Colorado and "Radar" Bill Miller of Miami (Fla.) man the ends. Billy Neighbors, best man on Alabama's national championship eleven, is at tackle opposite the 265 pound Olsen. Roy Winston of Louisiana State and Dave Behrman, Michigan State, are the guards.

Nicknamed "the quiet man," Ferguson set two goals for himself in 1961—lead the Buckeyes to the Big Ten title and repeat as All America. Missions accomplished. Enroute he rushed for 938 yards and 68 points.

Ferguson generated so much power he set up every phase of the Buckeye attack and was called by Coach Woody Hayes "practically indestructible."

"He's the best fullback I ever coached and he's got to be the best in the game today," Hayes adds.

Ferguson was thrown for only three yards in losses in as many seasons.

Davis, the Syracuse wonder boy who was the first player picked in the National Football League draft, led the Orange to a Liberty Bowl berth as the team's top ground gainer, pass receiver, kick hauler and scorer. He was among the nation's leaders in rushing (823 yards, 5.5 average) and points (94).

Davis broke Jimmy Brown's school career records in total offense (3,414 yards), rushing (2,386), points (220) and touchdowns (25). Ernie touched the ball only four times against Colgate, scoring twice including a 36 yard run on which he shook off

Juniors, Frosh Take 2nd Wins

Lancaster Ewing Doublebill Victim

Circleville's turbulent twosome—the junior high and freshmen cagers—survived last minute opposition rallies last night to collect a pair of second wins without defeat in the CHS gym.

Howard Dade scored all but seven points of his team's total as the juniors used a 12-2 lead built in the first quarter to gain a 25-20 victory over Lancaster Thomas Ewing. The Frosh were hard-pressed to turn back Ewing's yearlings, 32-31, in the second half of the basketball twinn.

Dade was practically a one-man demolition force for the juniors, stripping the nets for a robust 18 markers on seven field goals and five free tosses. Dave Jery hit three and Tim Stonerock and Ernest Evans two apiece to round out Circleville's scoring.

Reed topped the loser's tally card with nine. Circleville lead 12-2 after the first period, 16-5 at the half but by only 17-14 going into the last quarter as they were held to one thin counter in the third stanza.

IN THE frosh encounter coach Jim Shaw's outfit made a three-field goal difference stand up through an uncertain final quarter to grab a 32-31 decision. The CHS representatives had led 25-17 entering the fourth quarter but Ewing blasted back to within one point of the leaders by the time the game ended.

All the winners' scoring was confined to four players. Chet Iery paced the field with 10, Doug Roth contributed nine, Ron Seward had eight and Thomas hit for five. The locals led 8-4, 14-10, and 25-17.

DeFilippo was top scorer for Ewing with a half-dozen counters on three field goals. Circleville hit 40 per cent of its shots from the foul line and 33 per cent from the field.

The other bowl, Dayton, Ohio's Aviation Bowl, pits New Mexico (6-4) of the Skyline Conference against Western Michigan (5-3-1). The Skyline's co-champ, Utah State, pits its 9-0-1 record against Baylor in the Gotham's first outing. A crowd of about 20,000 is expected at the Polo Grounds for the game that will be televised nationally (ABC-TV, 1:15 p.m. Eastern Standard Time).

Baylor's Bears finished 5-5 after a tough Southwest Conference campaign. The Bears, all in good shape, are led by All-America tackle Merlin Olsen, 6-foot-5, 265-pounder.

Utah State, whose defense was ranked second nationally, has a high-powered offense of its own, paced by halfback Tom Larscheid and quarterback Mel Montalbo.

The NAIA title game at Sacramento, Calif., pits Pittsburg (Kan.) the No. 1 small college team in the final AP poll, against Linfield (Ore.) (No. 7). Both have 10-0 records.

The Missile Bowl, at Orlando, Fla., will be a replay of a disputed 9-7 victory by the Quantico Marines over Ft. Eustis earlier this season.

Unbeaten Florida A&M (9-7), tied for fourth in the final polls, plays Jackson (Miss.) State, which lost only once in 10 games, in Miami's Orange Blossom tilt.

New Mexico's Lobos will pit their ground attack, led by halfbacks Bob Santiago and Bob Morgan, against the precision-passing of quarterback Ed Chlebech, who led the Mid-America conference in passing.

Cameron Junior College of Oklahoma, unbeaten in 10 games, meets Bakersfield (Calif.), unbeaten in nine games, in the Junior Rose Bowl.

The receivers include Mack Burton and Oscar Donahue of San Jose State, Buddy Iles of Texas Christian and Bobby Lane of Baylor.

Possibly the most awesome of the Westerners are a trio of enormous tackles—6-foot-6 John Meyers of Washington and Utah State's brace of 6-foot-5 bruisers, Merlin Olsen and Clark Miller. Meyers weighs 240, Miller 250, Olsen 265.

The West squad will be coached by Jim Owens of Washington.

Behrman, lone junior on the team, is the biggest starting lineman in Spartan history and one of the most versatile as a guard, tackle and center.

Claims Coach Duffy Daugherty: "If there is a college lineman anywhere with his speed, power, quickness and intelligence, he has been well hidden."

The All America first team, picked on recommendations of eight regional boards composed of sportswriters and broadcasters, takes into account all games through Dec. 2.

Weikert 'In Dark' About Tiger Foe

Circleville High School's cage squad will be operating "in the dark" when it goes after its first win in the third game of the basketball season and second South Central Ohio League match in the CHS gym tonight against Washington C. H.

Hillsboro thrashed the Blue Lions of coach Gene Millard 75-53 last Friday in the first game of the year for both teams. But Circleville scouts Jim Shaw and Paul Sarchet had little in the

6 Bowl Games Due Saturday

Gotham Show Booked On Television Circuit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The post-season football bowls, strictly year-end trimming only a few years ago, get under way Saturday with six games on the schedule, led by New York's first Gotham Bowl.

Four titles will be decided under the guise of the "bowl" title, namely the NAIA in the Camellia Bowl, the armed forces title in the Missile Bowl, the mythical national Negro college title in the Orange Blossom Bowl and the junior college title in the Junior Rose Bowl.

The other bowl, Dayton, Ohio's Aviation Bowl, pits New Mexico (6-4) of the Skyline Conference against Western Michigan (5-3-1).

Utah State, whose defense was ranked second nationally, has a high-powered offense of its own, paced by halfback Tom Larscheid and quarterback Mel Montalbo.

The NAIA title game at Sacramento, Calif., pits Pittsburg (Kan.) the No. 1 small college team in the final AP poll, against Linfield (Ore.) (No. 7). Both have 10-0 records.

The Missile Bowl, at Orlando, Fla., will be a replay of a disputed 9-7 victory by the Quantico Marines over Ft. Eustis earlier this season.

Unbeaten Florida A&M (9-7), tied for fourth in the final polls, plays Jackson (Miss.) State, which lost only once in 10 games, in Miami's Orange Blossom tilt.

New Mexico's Lobos will pit their ground attack, led by halfbacks Bob Santiago and Bob Morgan, against the precision-passing of quarterback Ed Chlebech, who led the Mid-America conference in passing.

Cameron Junior College of Oklahoma, unbeaten in 10 games, meets Bakersfield (Calif.), unbeaten in nine games, in the Junior Rose Bowl.

The receivers include Mack Burton and Oscar Donahue of San Jose State, Buddy Iles of Texas Christian and Bobby Lane of Baylor.

Possibly the most awesome of the Westerners are a trio of enormous tackles—6-foot-6 John Meyers of Washington and Utah State's brace of 6-foot-5 bruisers, Merlin Olsen and Clark Miller. Meyers weighs 240, Miller 250, Olsen 265.

The West squad will be coached by Jim Owens of Washington.

Behrman, lone junior on the team, is the biggest starting lineman in Spartan history and one of the most versatile as a guard, tackle and center.

Claims Coach Duffy Daugherty: "If there is a college lineman anywhere with his speed, power, quickness and intelligence, he has been well hidden."

The All America first team, picked on recommendations of eight regional boards composed of sportswriters and broadcasters, takes into account all games through Dec. 2.

way of a report to bring back to CHS mentor Jack Weikert.

The bandbox Hillsboro gym was full to overflowing by the time the Tiger scouts arrived and police had blocked the entrances as a safety measure. Shaw and Sarchet ended up in Greenfield watching the Tigers take their licks at the hands of defending loop champion Wilmington.

A talk with Washington scout Bill Siemer between halves of the Circleville-Lancaster tilt Saturday brought the dejected comment that "the Lions are having their troubles this season." Siemer elaborated by stating Millard's team was plagued by a lack of height and experience at several key positions.

THE TALLEST man of the squad, 6' 2" Bob Williams, was ruled ineligible for last week's clash due to grades. It was not known whether he will be back in uniform this week.

The 15-man Blue Lion club includes seven seniors, none above the six foot mark. Millard's unit traded one-point victories last season with the Tigers. Circleville won the opener, 46-45, while Washington took a second tilt 54-53.

Weikert's squad has spent most of the week developing a more coordinated attack. Combined with this has been increased emphasis on shoring up a defense around the pivot.

Probable starters for the Circleville five were narrowed to star Sam Weller at center, Dave Hannans and George Trego in the forward posts and Garold Dad and either Fred Moore or Jim Wellington as guards. Fans will be treated to a high-speed offense if Weikert's plans jell at all.

Washington is expected to play a control game, retaining possession of the ball as much as possible and waiting for good opportunities to shoot.

In other action tonight around the SCOL, Hillsboro travels to Miami Trace, Wilmington hosts Franklin Heights and Greenfield is at Pleasant View.

Quarterback Ralph Guglielmi and offensive tackle Ed Cook of the St. Louis Cardinals in the National Football League went to Notre Dame.

Defensive end Don Joyce of the Minnesota Vikings has been playing pro football for the past 11 seasons. A 255-pounder, he went to Tulane.

Colts, Rams To Duel for Minor Honors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Baltimore Colts can strengthen their chances of finishing second in the National Football League's Western Conference Saturday by beating the Rams in Los Angeles.

The Rams, in turn, need a victory over the third-place Colts to aid in their effort to escape the Western cellar, which they now share with the Minnesota Vikings. Baltimore's record is 7 victories and 5 losses while the Rams have won 3 and lost 9.

The game will be televised nationally (CBS, 4:30 p.m., EST) and is the only NFL action Saturday. All other clubs play Sunday, the headliner being the collision between the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles in Philadelphia.

The Giants and the Eagles are deadlocked for first place in the Eastern Conference with 9-3 marks, and the victor can do no worse than tie for the title.

In other Sunday games, it's Cleveland (8-4) at Chicago (6-6), Green Bay (10-2) at San Francisco (6-5-1), Dallas (4-7-1) at St. Louis (5-7), Minnesota (3-9) at Detroit (7-4-1) and Pittsburgh (5-7) at Washington (0-11-1).

Green Bay won the Western Conference championship for the second straight year last weekend by edging the Giants 20-17.

Doug Sanders won his fifth PGA golf tournament of 1961 when he shot a record 270 in the Cajun Classic at Lafayette, La. He also raised his PGA earnings for the year to $55,663.

Power Is Signed By Indians Again

CLEVELAND (AP) — General Manager Gabe Paul says Vic Power has been signed by the Cleveland Indians for the 1962 season and will remain with the Tribe unless he receives an offer for the fancy-fielding first baseman that he cannot afford to refuse.

Paul signed Power during a meeting in New York at which discipline and rules of conduct were discussed and said he received assurance that Power would cooperate with Mel McGaha, the Indians' new manager.

Power and Jimmie Dykes were at odds last season because the former manager didn't like Vic's apparently nonchalant style of play. Dykes also accused Power of disregarding training rules.

Ferguson Repeats On AP All-America Grid Team for '61

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1961 Associated Press All America football team, led by Ohio State fullback Bob Ferguson, has the biggest line in history featuring honor students Alex Kroll and Merlin Olsen.

Kroll, the Phi Beta Kappa candidate center who spurred Rutgers to its first unbeaten season, and Utah State's Olsen, top business administration scholar, are in a forward wall which averages an incredible 238 pounds.

Lone repeater from last year, Ferguson is joined in the backfield by Ernie Davis—first Negro to win the Heisman Trophy—spectacular Jimmy Saxton of Texas and versatile quarterback Sandy Stephens of Minnesota.

Rugged Jerry Hillebrand of Colorado and "Radar" Bill Miller of Miami (Fla.) man the ends. Billy Neighbors, best man on Alabama's national championship eleven, is at tackle opposite the 265 pound Olsen. Roy Winston of Louisiana State and Dave Behrman, Michigan State, are the guards.

Nicknamed "the quiet man," Ferguson set two goals for himself in 1961—lead the Buckeyes to the Big Ten title and repeat as All America. Missions accomplished. Enroute he rushed for 938 yards and 68 points.

Ferguson generated so much power he set up every phase of the Buckeye attack and was called by Coach Woody Hayes "practically indestructible."

"He's the best fullback I ever coached and he's got to be the best in the game today," Hayes adds.

Ferguson was thrown for only three yards in losses in as many seasons.

Davis, the Syracuse wonder boy who was the first player picked in the National Football League draft, led the Orange to a Liberty Bowl berth as the team's top ground gainer, pass receiver, kick hauler and scorer. He was among the nation's leaders in rushing (823 yards, 5.5 average) and points (94).

Davis broke Jimmy Brown's school career records in total offense (3,414 yards), rushing (2,286), points (220) and touchdowns (23). Ernie touched the ball only four times against Colgate, scoring twice including a 36 yard run on which he shook off seven tacklers, and throwing a touchdown pass to roommate John Mackey on a play covering 74 yards.

The driving force behind Texas' Southwest Conference co-championship, Saxton is master of the big play and dubbed by Coach Darrell Royal "the quickest athlete I've ever known."

Jimmy covered 846 yards in 107 carries, scored 56 points, was a fine pass catcher, completed the only pass he threw for a 46-yard score and sent the only punt he tried for 54 yards.

"Probably no player in the country carried such a big part of the load on a winning team," wrote one writer on the accomplishments of 215 pound Gophers of the Rose Bowl bound Gophers.

Dangerous on either end of a punt and a superb safetymen, Stephens accounted for 1,281 yards in total offense.

Pro scouts tabbed Olsen, tri-captain of the unbeaten Aggies, the finest lineman this year. Despite his size and 15ee shoes, Olsen has great agility and pursuit and is the main reason behind Utah State's outstanding rushing records, offensive and defensive. With a 3.67 grade average out of a possible 4.0, Olsen wants to try to mix pro football and graduate studies.

Besppectacled Kroll, owning better than a 92 per cent average in his advanced English studies, is a $500 Earl Blaik scholar-athlete award winner as is Olsen. The rawboned 228 pounder was responsible for Rutgers' unusually long gaining quarterback sneaks, was the team captain, called defensive signals and was an exceptional tackler.

Hillebrand is a great defender, top pass receiver and the all-important kicker for once-beaten Colorado. Jerry beat Missouri 7-6 with a conversion and Miami 9-7 with a field goal, scoring 29 points on four touchdown passes, a conversion toss, three field goals and 14 point after kicks.

Miller, who built himself into the fastest man on the squad with his own program of weights and wind sprints, "is great because he won't settle for less," according to Andy Gustafson who ranks Bill as one of the three greatest he's seen. The other two are Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis.

Miller turned in great defensive efforts against Northwestern and Georgia but his forte is pass catching. Miller grabbed 43 for 640 yards and two touchdowns this season. His career marks—all records—list 102 receptions, 1,448 yards, eight touchdowns, LSU's Winston, a five-star defender from the day he arrived at Baton Rouge, improved 100 per cent as a blocker this year, according to his coaches. Roy plays left guard on offense, right tackle on defense and havoc with the opposition.

Behrman, lone junior on the team, is the biggest starting lineman in Spartan history and one of the most versatile as a guard, tackle and center.

Claims Coach Duffy Daugherty: "If there is a college lineman anywhere with his speed, power, quickness and intelligence, he has been well hidden."

The All America first team, picked on recommendations of eight regional boards composed of sportswriters and broadcasters, takes into account all games through Dec. 2.

Juniors, Frosh Take 2nd Wins

Lancaster Ewing Doublebill Victim

Circleville's turbulent twosome—the junior high and freshmen eagles—survived last-minute opposition rallies last night to collect a pair of second wins without defeat in the CHS gym.

Howard Dade scored all but seven points of his team's total as the juniors used a 12-2 lead built up in the first quarter to gain a 25-20 victory over Lancaster Thomas Ewing. The Frosh were hard-pressed to turn back Ewing's yearlings, 32-31, in the second half of the basketball twinbill.

Dade was practically a one-man demolition force for the juniors, stripping the nets for a robust 18 markers on seven field goals and five free throws. Dave Lery hit three and Tim Stonerock and Ernest Evans two apiece to round out Circleville's scoring.

Reed topped the loser's tally card with nine. Circleville lead 12-2 after the first period, 16-5 at the half but by only 17-14 going into the last quarter as they were held to one thin center in the third stanza.

IN THE frosh encounter coach Jim Shaw's outfit made a three-field goal difference stand up through an uncertain final quarter to grab a 32-31 decision. The CHS representatives had led 25-17 entering the fourth quarter but Ewing blasted back to within one point of the leaders by the time the game ended.

All the winners' scoring was confined to four players. Chery paced the field with 10, Doug Roth contributed nine, Ron Seward had eight and Thomas hit for five. The locals led 8-4, 14-10, and 25-17.

DeFilippo was top scorer for Ewing with a half-dozen counters on three field goals. Circleville hit 40 per cent of its shots from the foul line and 33 per cent from the field.

Shrine Game To Display Vast Power

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Powerful runners, giant tackles and spectacular passers are on the West team named today for the Shrine East-West football game at Kezar Stadium Dec. 30.

The 24-man West squad features driving Curtis McClinton of Kansas and Ronny Bull of Baylor as the power runners.

Quarterback Mel Melin of Washington State, John Hadl of Kansas and Kermit Jorgensen of Washington are all excellent passers.

The receivers include Mack Burton and Oscar Donahue of San Jose State, Buddy Iles of Texas Christian and Bobby Lane of Baylor.

Possibly the most awesome of the Westerners are a trio of enormous tackles—6-foot-6 John Meyers of Washington and Utah State's brace of 6-foot-5 bruisers, Merlin Olsen and Clark Miller. Meyers weighs 240, Miller 250, Olsen 265.

The West squad will be coached by Jim Owens of Washington.

Weikert 'In Dark' About Tiger Foe

Circleville High School's cage squad will be operating "in the dark" when it goes after its first win in the third game of the basketball season and second South Central Ohio League match in the CHS gym tonight against Washington C. H.

Hillsboro thrashed the Blue Lions of coach Gene Millard 75-53 last Friday in the first game of the year for both teams. But Circleville scouts Jim Shaw and Paul Sarchet had little in the way of a report to bring back to CHS mentor Jack Weikert.

The bandbox Hillsboro gym was full to overflowing by the time the Tiger scouts arrived and police had blocked the entrances as a safety measure. Shaw and Sarchet ended up in Greenfield watching the Tigers take their licks at the hands of defending loop champion Wilmington.

A talk with Washington scout Bill Siemer between halves of the Circleville-Lancaster tilt Saturday brought the dejected comment that "the Lions are having their troubles this season." Siemer elaborated by stating Millard's team was plagued by a lack of height and experience at several key positions.

THE TALLEST man of the squad, 6' 2" Bob Williams, was ruled ineligible for last week's clash due to grades. It was not known whether he will be back in uniform this week.

The 15-man Blue Lion club includes seven seniors, none above the six foot mark. Millard's unit traded one-point victories last season with the Tigers. Circleville won the opener, 46-45, while Washington took a second tilt 54-53.

Weikert's squad has spent most of the week developing a more coordinated attack. Combined with this has been increased emphasis on shoring up a defense around the pivot.

Probable starters for the Circleville five were narrowed to star Sam Weller at center, Dave Hannahs and George Trego in the forward posts and Garold Dad and either Fred Moore or Jim Wellington as guards. Fans will be treated to a high-speed offense if Weikert's plans jell at all.

Washington is expected to play a control game, retaining possession of the ball as much as possible and waiting for good opportunities to shoot.

Cameron Junior College of Oklahoma, unbeaten in 10 games, meets Bakersfield (Calif.), unbeaten in nine games, in the Junior Rose Bowl.

6 Bowl Games Due Saturday

Gotham Show Booked On Television Circuit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The postseason football bowls, strictly year-end trimming only a few years ago, get under way Saturday with six games on the schedule, led by New York's first Gotham Bowl.

Four titles will be decided under the guise of the "bowl" title, namely the NAIA in the Camellia Bowl, the armed forces title in the Missile Bowl, the mythical national Negro college title in the Orange Blossom Bowl and the junior college title in the Junior Rose Bowl.

The other bowl, Dayton, Ohio's Aviation Bowl, pits New Mexico (6-4) of the Skyline Conference against Western Michigan (5-3-1). The Skyline's co-champ, Utah State, pits its 9-0-1 record against Baylor in the Gotham's first outing. A crowd of about 20,000 is expected at the Polo Grounds for the game that will be televised nationally (ABC-TV, 1:15 p.m. Eastern Standard Time).

Baylor's Bears finished 5-5 after a tough Southwest Conference campaign. The Bears, all in good shape, are led by All-America tackle Merlin Olsen, 6-foot-5, 265-pounder.

Utah State, whose defense was ranked second nationally, has a high-powered offense of its own, paced by halfback Tom Larscheid and quarterback Mel Montalbo.

The NAIA title game at Sacramento, Calif., pits Pittsburg (Kan.) the No. 1 small college team in the final AP poll, against Linfield (Ore.) (No. 7). Both have 10-0 records.

The Missile Bowl, at Orlando, Fla., will be a replay of a disputed 9-7 victory by the Quantic Marines over Ft. Eustis earlier this season.

Unbeaten Florida A&M (9-7), tied for fourth in the final polls, plays Jackson (Miss.) State, which lost only once in 10 games, in Miami's Orange Blossom tilt.

New Mexico's Lobos will pit their ground attack, led by halfbacks Bob Santiago and Bob Morgan, against the precision-passing of quarterback Ed Chlebech, who led the Mid-America conference in passing.

Cameron Junior College of Oklahoma, unbeaten in 10 games, meets Bakersfield (Calif.), unbeaten in nine games, in the Junior Rose Bowl.

2 Ohio Gridders

Named NAIA Stars

Colts, Rams To Duel for Minor Honors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Baltimore Colts can strengthen their chances of finishing second in the National Football League's Western Conference Saturday by beating the Rams in Los Angeles.

The Rams, in turn, need a victory over the third-place Colts to aid in their effort to escape the Western cellar, which they now share with the Minnesota Vikings. Baltimore's record is 7 victories and 5 losses while the Rams have won 3 and lost 9.

The game will be televised nationally (CBS, 4:30 p.m., EST) and is the only NFL action Saturday. All other clubs play Sunday, the headliner being the collision between the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles in Philadelphia.

The Giants and the Eagles are deadlocked for first place in the Eastern Conference with 9-3 marks, and the victor can do no worse than tie for the title.

In other Sunday games, it's Cleveland (8-4) at Chicago (6-6), Green Bay (10-2) at San Francisco (6-5-1), Dallas (4-7-1) at St. Louis (5-7), Minnesota (3-9) at Detroit (7-4-1) and Pittsburgh (5-7) at Washington (0-11-1).

Green Bay won the Western Conference championship for the second straight year last weekend by edging the Giants 20-17.

Doug Sanders won his fifth PGA golf tournament of 1961 when he shot a record 270 in the Cajun Classic at Lafayette, La. He also raised his PGA earnings for the year to $55,663.

Power Is Signed By Indians Again

CLEVELAND (AP) — General Manager Gabe Paul says Vic Power has been signed by the Cleveland Indians for the 1962 season and will remain with the Tribe unless he receives an offer for the fancy-fielding first baseman that he cannot afford to refuse.

Paul signed Power during a meeting in New York at which discipline and rules of conduct were discussed and said he received a $50,000 contract that Power would cooperate with Mel McGaha, the Indians' new manager.

Power and Jimmie Dykes were at odds last season because the former manager didn't like Vic's apparently nonchalant style of play. Dykes also accused Power of disregarding training rules.

Class A All-Ohio Football Team, Top Coach Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A talented array of high school gridders make up the Class A All-Ohio football team selected by The Associated Press.

The classy kids who covet for the state's smaller schools were named to the dream squad with the help of coaches, officials, sports writers and sportscasters.

Competition was keen for the three most coveted honors—Class A coach of the year, the No. 1 back and the top lineman.

Ken Herman, a 43-year-old native of Sandusky, was tabbed as the coach of the year. Herman, in his 20th season at Fostoria St. Wendelin, is a graduate of Sandusky St. Mary's and Toledo De Sales.

Herman, who has spent his entire coaching career at St. Wendelin, edged out Norm Decker of Liberty Center, Don Miller of Granville, Dick Thurnes of Tiltonsville, Paul Drotovich of Dennison St. Mary, John Santillo of Lovellville, Billie McFarren of Dalton, Henry Schroth of Bellville and Paul Pozuric of Coldwater.

Class A back of the year laurels went to Larry Zuercher of Dalton in Wayne County. Zuercher, a 168-pound 5-7 dynamo, romped 1,554 yards in 117 efforts and scored 29 touchdowns.

But the highest scorer on the squad is Charles (Sonny) Stowers, a halfback from Chesapeake who tallied 213 points. Zuercher and the 6-1, 185-pound Stowers snared halfback posts with Ike Kelley of Bremen in the fullback spot.

Fostoria St. Wendelin's Michael Faber, a junior, won the quarterback position on the strength of a 65 per cent pass completion mark good for 16 touchdowns.

Joe Bradley, a rugged 191-pound 6-2 tackle from Dennison St. Mary was named outstanding lineman for his prowess both on offense and defense.

Joining Bradley at tackle is Clarence Glover of Licking Heights. The guards are Tom Koran of Lakeside and Ron Dobos of New Albany while Bill Krantz of Dover St. Joseph is the offensive center.

End spots belong to Jack Evans of Dover St. Joseph, 6-4, and Dick Alge, 6-3, another Fostoria St. Wendelin standout.

Lancaster Fenwick and Bellville dominated the first team defensive unit with each school landing two players on the squad. They are William Joos, an end, and halfback Jake Ehrler, both of Lancaster Fenwick, and linebacker Phil Barr and safetyman Mike Hamilton of Bellville.

The Light Side

AN INTERESTING letter seeking information on family descendants was received here today. . . The request came from Mrs. G. M. Cope, 416 Helena St., Ridgecrest, Calif. . .

Mrs. Cope says she has been trying for several years to gain information concerning the family. . . She recently learned that some of them lived and died in the Circleville area. . . On her list are these names and facts:

Thomas Gibson who died in Circleville on Feb. 10, 1875.

Rebecca Wallace Chambers Gibson, wife of Thomas Gibson, who died in Circleville in 1872.

James Gibson and his wife, Jennie Gibson, whose maiden name was Barhar.

Alexander Chambers, born in Pennsylvania and later died in Ohio.

Mrs. Cope said she would appreciate receiving information on these persons or any of their descendants. . . Perhaps some local historian will be familiar with this family tree.

MRS. RALPH LONG, Route 2, Circleville, would like to receive a supply of Christmas seals for use on her Christmas card mailings. . . It seems her name was overlooked when the seals were mailed out earlier.

THE HOME of the Don Crist family, 600 Ridgewood, is decked with probably the "most expensive tree in town" this holiday season. . . Circleville Jaycees, preparing for their annual sale of trees at the intersection of Court and Main Sts., took to the hills earlier this week to cut trees on property belonging to J. L. Chilcote. . .

The "tree hunters" had strict orders not to cut three of Chilcote's prize Scotch pines.

Crist "didn't get the message" and he now has a beautiful Scotch pine in his living room fully trimmed for the Yule season.

DURING AN informal discussion at the regular meeting of Circleville Jaycees last night, one member commented: "All of you have heard about the move to draft DiSalle. I checked with Selective Service and they don't want him."

JAYCEES MADE plans to send a box of toys to a French-Canadian boy who wrote a letter and attached it to a Christmas tree in New Brunswick, Canada. The note was discovered here by Raymond Myers, 150 Nicholas Drive. . . Myers isn't the only person in this area who has received an appeal for gifts at Christmas through a note found in an evergreen tree. Dr. Joseph E. Goeller, Route 4, found a similar note two years ago in a tree he purchased from a local dealer.

Cancer Society Officials Meet

Committeemen from the Pickaway County Cancer Society met recently for discussion of a local educational and service program as part of the annual crusade against the disease.

Ed Irwin, Ashville, formulated plans to contact all schools and organizations in the county and inform them of motion picture films of cancer that are currently available.

Mary Tomlinson, service chairman, announced that the society now has a hospital bed, wheel chair and other facilities to be loaned to local cancer patients.

It was also announced that the local society would help supply drugs and dressings to any authentic cancer patient who has been approved by society officials.

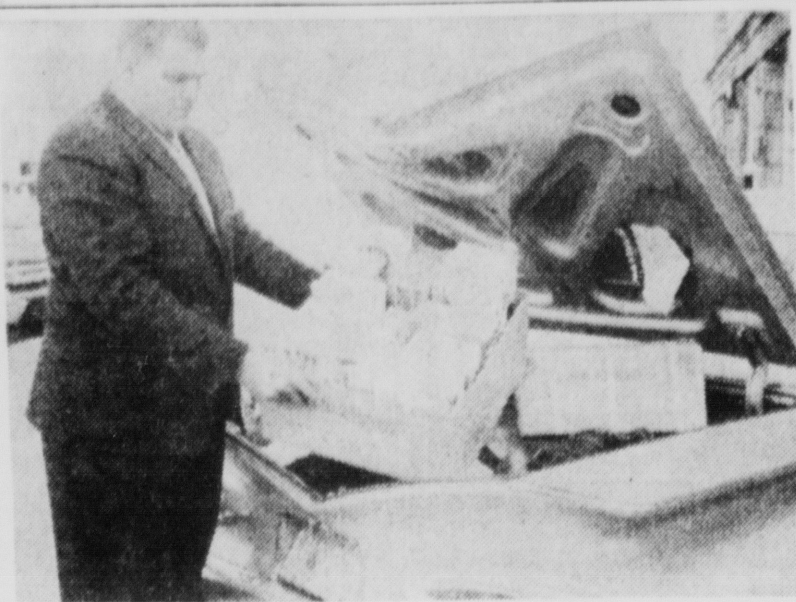

Local persons, afflicted with cancer, may receive aid from the society by contacting Mary Tomlinson at GR 4-4709 or the society headquarters at the First Methodist Church, GR 4-4796.

Collegians Join Drive To 'Draft DiSalle'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The movement to draft Gov. Michael V. DiSalle for re-election has spread to Ohio's college campuses.

The Bi-Partisan Committee for Good Government, which is behind the movement, said petitions urging DiSalle to change his mind and run again will be circulated by student groups on the campuses of Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio State, Miami, Oberlin, Denison, Capital, Mount Union, Otterbein and Toledo.

Two future Presidents were among 5,000 persons who gathered on the tree-shaded slopes of Arlington National Cemetery for the first official observance of Memorial Day in 1868. They were Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, an honored guest and Gen. James A. Garfield, who delivered the oration.

GIFTS FOR PATIENTS — Ralph Starkey, local juvenile probation officer, loads a quantity of Christmas gifts which will be taken to patients at the Columbus State Hospital today. The gifts were collected through efforts of the Ashville Civic Club, Christian Fellowship League of Trinity Lutheran Church, the Hi-Y Club, Key Club and SOS Club of Circleville High School, Pickaway County Girl Scouts and Brownies and Junior Women's Club. December Shoplifting Cost Estimated at Half-Billion CHICAGO (AP)—Shoplifting is mostly obedience to an impulse by otherwise honest people whose petty pilferage will cost America's merchants more than $500 million during December.

The conclusion and estimate of loss is by Norman Industries, Inc., of Chicago, a theft-prevention engineering firm.

Norman Kiven, president, said the peak of Christmas shopping also will be the peak of shoplifting. It will become so prevalent in some stores, he said, that the merchants will find when the rush is over they actually operated in the red.

One large store in the Midwest recently reported it apprehended 57 shoplifters in a two-week period before Christmas shopping began. The average attempted theft in those cases involved merchandise valued at $11.48.

Kiven said his statistics show that only about 10 per cent of shoplifters are professionals. He described the others as ordinary people of whom 90 per cent are women.

"Contrary to what most people think," Kiven said, "the middle income and richer customers are responsible for greater losses. Virtually none of them would resort to the impulse to steal if they believed there was the slightest chance they would be caught. People with smaller incomes are satisfied with the smaller impulse-type merchandise."

Kiven said reports by merchants show that shoplifting has risen 14 per cent in the last year.

Excuse Didn't Hold

MACON, Miss. (AP) — Caught with illegal whisky in his possession, Tommy Halbert had a ready excuse.

"I'm just carrying it to my wife," he pleaded. "She just can't drink that Macon water."

The judge was unimpressed. He fined Halbert $300.

Second Jail Escapee Still Being Sought

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—An extensive search was being made in the Strasburg area today for one of two escapees from the Tuscarawas County jail here following the capture of his companion.

Ernest F. Blunt, 25, of Rt. 1, Strasburg, was wounded in the hand late Thursday as he fled from a cabin about a mile north-east of Strasburg. He ran about three miles through a heavily wooded area before being captured.

Still at large is Gilbert H. Blankenship Jr., 32, of Bolivar. He and Blunt slugged a guard and broke out of jail early Sunday.

Authorities said they had discovered nothing to link the escapees with the disappearance of the Rev. E. Rudolph Flint, 41, of Beach City. The Baptist minister left home about an hour after the jail break Sunday to go to the Freevill Baptist Church in Canal Fulton, but never reached the church and has not been heard from since.

Officers had theorized that the minister might have been forced to transport the escapees as he made a practice of picking up hitchhikers.

Oil Well Pollution Curb Found

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Practical means exist to prevent water pollution by the brine brought up from oil wells, the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board has determined.

The ruling came Thursday after a technical hearing centered on the problem of potential salt pollution of streams and other water sources because of oil drilling in Hocking County. The brine is a by-product of the drilling.

The board heard testimony that the problem is nearly resolved in the Southeastern Ohio area and that most drillers are effectively disposing of the wastes.

The effect of the ruling is to give the board a weapon by which to require continued effective disposal in the Hocking fields and elsewhere in the state.

There was no opposition testimony.

J. W. Straker of Zanesville, vice president of the Oxford Oil Co., one of the larger drilling firms in the area, said his company had tried several methods of disposal and found two that are effective.

The easiest is to put the waste in large pits or lagoons but this leaves the possibility that heavy rains could cause the lagoons to overflow, he said.

The other method is to use "ingestion wells" to put the brine back where it came from. Straker said, and the board concurred, that this ends the problem once and for all but it costs more initially than pits.

Business Briefs

Studebaker-Packard Corporation today announced that its Board of Directors declared fourth quarter dividends in the amount of $1.25 per share on its $5 convertible preferred stock and 5 per cent second preferred stock, Series A, payable on Jan. 2, 1962, to shareholders of record on Dec. 14, 1961.

The local G. C. Murphy was host this week when its annual Open House Party was held for employees of the company and their families. The event was planned by both management and store employees.

Purpose of the Murphy Store Family Night is to give employees an opportunity to share in holiday activities as well as to meet the families of their co-workers and friends.

The local store was decorated in typical Christmas fashion. Refreshments were served and drawings for door prizes were conducted.

He cited a department store in Detroit which asked its employees to take a lie test with a pledge of immunity from any guilt that might be shown. After the tests, 76 per cent of the employees admitted stealing $100 or more each during the preceding six months.
